Bio

Brittany Michaud represents businesses in connection with a broad spectrum of commercial and real estate transactions. Brittany advises large and small business owners and commercial lenders on entity formation, lending, contract drafting and negotiation, mergers and acquisitions, and sales. Brittany also represents lenders, buyers and sellers in the sale, development and financing of commercial real estate, including complex transactions that involve affordable housing tax credit funding elements. Brittany applies analytical skills, practicality and business know-how to help her clients successfully navigate transactions and resolve difficult legal problems that may arise.

While in law school, Brittany served as the Technical Editor of the Maine Law Review and co-chair of the Maine Association for Public Interest Law, and worked as a student attorney at the Cumberland Legal Aid Clinic assisting low-income Mainers. She also completed an internship with the Office of the Federal Public Defender for the District of Maine in Portland.

Brittany lives in Saco with her family and their German Short Haired Pointer. In her free time, Brittany enjoys boating on the lake and hiking outdoors. Committed to civic engagement, Brittany serves as a member of the Saco Long-Range Planning Committee, and as a member of the Board of Directors for Pharos House in Portland.
