Bio

Darci Greenacre is a non-lawyer Consultant in the firm's Government Relations & Campaigns Practice Group. With more than a decade of experience at the highest levels of government and federal campaigns, Darci is forward-thinking and a proactive problem-solver. She applies these skills in every project she leads and participates in. She advises corporations, nonprofits, advocacy organizations, and electoral campaigns on a wide range of issues including energy, broadband and health care matters.

In Washington, D.C., Darci worked for U.S. Senator Collins for twelve years, where she notably served as a member of the senior staff as the Senator's Director of Scheduling. In this position, Darci was involved in a wide variety of policy issues and worked successfully with staff on both sides of the aisle. A well-respected consensus builder, she has a proven reputation for achieving results, and excels at creating and executing a strategic vision. Moreover, Darci attacks projects by looking at each issue from all sides through constant research. She is also a seasoned political campaign veteran, having served as Director of Scheduling on two successful federal campaigns, including Senator Collins' 2020 win for a historic fifth term. In this capacity, Darci was exposed to all the different components of a successful campaign including, finance, compliance, political organizing, and field work.

A native of central Maine, Darci recently returned to her home state and enjoys spending time with family and friends, exploring downtown Portland, running, and baking.
