Bio

Rachel Sears represents public school districts in a wide range of complex and rapidly-developing legal issues with an emphasis on special education and disability law. Rachel has substantial experience in matters arising under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, Americans with Disabilities Act, and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, as well as accompanying state and federal regulations.

Rachel is an experienced litigator who appears in special education due process proceedings and in appeals before the U.S. District Court and the First Circuit Court of Appeals. She also works diligently to help her clients resolve disputes in order to avoid litigation.

Rachel grew up in Maine, is the granddaughter of public school educators, and enjoys spending time outdoors with family and friends, especially boating, gardening, skiing, and running. Rachel serves on the Public Policy Committee of Maine Coast Heritage Trust, is a member of the Board for the University of Maine School of Law Foundation, and serves on the Board of the Foundation for Portland Public Schools.
